

Remembrance by the Site Proprietor

Among endless worlds
This is the hard world,
A simple confusion of light and shadow,
A confusion of love and loss.

That empty armchair held a thousand bright insights.
That empty bed held a thousand caresses.
That wild garden is yet well tended.

May her ash bless my brow each coming year.